Current Events and a Review of Local News

Fridays, 2/22/19–3/29/19 (6 weeks) 10 a.m.–12 noon

We live in a saturated news environment with 24-hour cable stations and partisan arguments hurled across the political divide. How to make sense of this? Join veteran journalist Eleanor Clift for a weekly rundown of what’s happened of importance on the national scene, and what’s new and notable in our local politics. Voter engagement is at an all-time high as 2019 kicks off a wide-open race among Democrats to challenge President Trump in 2020. What will Americans be looking for in our next leader? Are the values Americans cherish under assault? Should we be paying more attention to issues closer to home? Class participation and discussion encouraged, and all views respected.

Eleanor Clift is a columnist at the Daily Beast, an online publication. Formerly with Newsweek, she has covered every presidential campaign since 1976. She has written or co-written five books, including “Two Weeks of Life: A memoir of love, death and politics,” and “Founding Sisters and the 19th Amendment.” She has appeared as herself in several movies, including “Independence Day” and “Dave,” and CBS-TV’s “Murphy Brown.”

Location: Class is held at 5 Star Premier Residences of Chevy Chase, 8100 Connecticut Ave, Chevy Chase, MD 20815. Free on-site parking will be available.
