The Sounds of Old Russia, Part II

Our study of Russian music continues with Tchaikovsky and Rachmaninov. The fruit of their labors is an extensive repertoire of great symphonies, operas, concertos, tone poems, ballets and chamber music. And the great Russian tradition doesn’t end with them. Into the 20th Century, the music of Igor Stravinsky, Sergei Prokofiev and Dmitri Shostakovich draws on all the elements of this enriched heritage, combining that with the sounds of our contemporary world.

Saul Lilienstein lectures on a variety of topics for the Smithsonian Institution and the Washington Opera. His recent series of commentaries on CD for the Washington Opera has been received with acclaim. Lilienstein is a professor emeritus at Essex Community College and is the former artistic director of Operetta Renaissance and the Harford Opera Theater.

Monday, February 17 – May 4, 1 p.m. – 3 p.m.
Golden Ages of Screen Comedies

In American film, comedies come in and out of fashion. There are the great eras, like the early part of the 20th century with stars like Buster Keaton, Harold Lloyd, and Charlie Chaplin. But there are also the drought years (for example, the current trend in the 21st century). Each comedy cycle has its own style, influenced by the writers, actors, and social trends at the time. Through clips and discussions, we will explore the golden ages of movie comedies and the stars, including: the silent era, the 30s (e.g. Marx Brothers, Mae West, and WC Fields), the 70s (Mel Brooks, Richard Pryor, Woody Allen), and the 90s (e.g., Eddie Murphy, Jim Carey).

Stan Levin has a degree in Film and Theatre from New York University. He also studied theater at the graduate level at the Catholic University of America. He was a documentary film maker for the US Department of Agriculture and an award-winning writer of radio and TV commercials. He was a nationally syndicated film critic, and is a frequent lecturer on film and contemporary culture in the DC Metro area.

Weather Policy: Osher at Asbury will follow the closings of Montgomery County Schools. Please listen to your radio for the Montgomery County School announcements. When in doubt, call our voice mail to get the most up-to-date information on the status of our classes at 301-294-7058.

Make-up classes will be held whenever possible.
